

A SencorpWhite Brand

RFID technology

Manage your high-value inventory with state-of-the-art RFID technology

SencorpWhite is an industry leader in secure packaging and advanced logistics systems. Innovative sealing and thermoform packaging systems, as well as custom inventory management hardware and software solutions, serve a variety of markets including consumer products, life sciences, defense, and aerospace. SencorpWhite's best-in-class customer support, technical expertise, system reconditioning services, and parts replacement resources offer unbeatable reliability and value for customers worldwide.

Offering wireless tracking, security, and real-time monitoring capabilities, SencorpWhite integrates RFID's FCC-compliant UHF readers into its White brand Automated Storage and Retrieval Systems (AS/RS). White integrated manufacturing and inventory management solutions help mitigate risk and enhances overall inventory security.

RFID tag technology, integrated with White secure storage and retrieval systems and inventory management software, provides an industry leading solution for securing, distributing, and monitoring high-value, temperature sensitive products, medicines, and foodstuffs.

RFID advantages include higher throughput, greater visibility, and security, as well as virtually eliminating human error. SencorpWhite's RFID-compatible systems serve a variety of industries that require the management of high-value inventory, including medical device, pharmaceutical, healthcare, manufacturing, industrial, and aerospace.
